

Biokinetics is excited to collaborate with Sydor Technologies to sell our advanced injury assessment tools internationally.

With Sydor's proven record in providing complex ballistic measurement solutions globally along with Biokinetics' expertise in assessing and mitigating injuries from ballistic, blast, stab and impact threats, we are confident that comprehensive and integrated solutions can be provided at all levels of armor development from exploratory studies to final product validation. See more at Sydor's press release